most likely, this is because immune-assist's primary function is to enhance the activity of the immune system rather than to attack cancer cells directly.